

Competition Law Cirque

Competition is a basic mechanism of the market economy which encourages companies to offer consumers goods and services at the most favourable terms. It encourages efficiency and innovation and reduces prices. In order to be effective, competition requires companies to act independently of each other, but subject to the competitive pressure exerted by the others. Competition advocacy is an important tool for promoting competition culture within the government policy making apparatus and has proved very effective in many countries.

The Centre for Competition Law and Policy will be created as an initiative to promote interdisciplinary research in the field of competition law and policy making. Competition law issues also involve developments in the fields related to sectoral regulators. So the centre will promote interdisciplinary research in the field of regulatory laws in India. The Centre will provide a forum where leading practitioners and academician, scholars and students, can discuss and exchange views on contemporary issues of competition law and policy. The Centre will establish an institution of excellence in research and teaching concerning competition law and policy.

The working paper series seeks to publish outstanding scholarly articles relating to competition law and policy. Its mission is to help foster learning and debate about how competition law and policy can continue to develop in an economically rational way. Articles published in the Working Paper Series are subject to rigorous peer review by leading experts from around India and Europe.

The Competition Law Cirque is pleased to announce its inaugural edition, which is to be published in November this year. The Editorial Board of Competition Law Cirque is inviting submissions for Vol.1, Issue 1 from legal academicians, professional and students.
